ORDER DENYING COALITION PLAINTIFFS' MOTION FOR REHEARING

THIS CASE is before me in a somewhat unusual procedural posture. The Plaintiffs seek a reconsideration of my orders of May 2, 2014, and May 15, 2014, requiring production of some but not all of the documents claimed by non-parties to be privileged.

Despite the pending motion for rehearing, the orders were appealed by the non-parties. The Plaintiffs did not cross appeal. They did not move to dismiss the non-parties appeal based on the pending motion for rehearing. They did not seek clarification either in the District Court of Appeal or the Supreme Court as to what effect, if any, the pending motion for rehearing had on the order of May 2, 2014, or the order of May 15, 2014. Final judgment was entered in these consolidated cases and the appeal is pending in the Florida Supreme Court. The Plaintiffs have abandoned their motion for rehearing as it regards these two cases.

The Plaintiffs argue that the issue is still relevant because of the pending claim challenging the State Senate redistricting map (2012 CA 2842). That may be, but my order applied only to the cases challenging the congressional map, and the case challenging the senate map is not before me. Whether Plaintiffs are entitled to the additional documents they seek will be up to the presiding judge in that case.

Accordingly, it is ORDERED AND ADJUDGED that the motion is denied.

DONE AND ORDERED in Chambers at Tallahassee, Leon County, Florida, this 18th day of March, 2015.

TERRY P. LEWIS, Circuit Judge
