Jason,

I have worked out a new version of the 7-1 plan in which you have nothing new in AA (keeping 144k of what Sarbanes currently have). Additions to the district include 79k in Howard with a 60% Dem. Performance, 16.5k in PG with at 69.8% Dem. Performance, and 83k in Montgomery at 67.8% DPFM. The district is currently overpopulated by ~23k and has a total Democratic Performance of 60%. Ruppertsburger is under by ~23K and a Democratic Performance of 56.7% -- a decline of 1.2% which we need to fix somehow.

I will be traveling back from Denver on Monday morning and will contact you on Tuesday with more details.

Understood. But I think my boss's reaction will be that he gave up Annapolis and will be picking up 200,000 new people all in the name of helping the 1st. No one else can claim a similar sacrifice and he can't pick up new, tough areas in AAC as well.

In reality, I think that if our dem performance is only improving by a little over a point, our actual election numbers may decrease if we get those new areas in AAC in the new map. He performs way above the dem average in his current AAC areas because he's spent four years of blood sweat and tears in those areas. He wouldn't have that same benefit in the new areas.

Maybe the 2nd can pick up a few of those areas in AAC? I think the constraints on the 7th may have to be reexamined in that context.

Completely understood. Just so you know the reason why this has been done is because we are able to improve the 3rd with other areas outside of Baltimore. Ruppertsburger can only improve in Baltimore City/County from either the 3rd or the 7th and there are certain constraints in improving from the 7th. Having said that his avenue towards improvement is to shed lesser areas to the 6th in Baltimore and Harford and areas of AA to the 1st or in these cases, the third. If our goal is to improve the 1st we have to resist putting much more bad AA into the district.

Again, I completely understand where you are coming from but just wanted to reiterate why past maps have been done this way and will work towards your goal in the revised map.

Just to reiterate, our perspective is that we don't want any new AAC in the new map.

The AA numbers in the spreadsheet are the population additions to the 3rd district. The AA totals are 165k in the original 7-1 plan and 183K in the modified 7-1 plan that has Van Hollen into Frederick by 150k instead of 200k.

I started work on what we discussed and your idea to move Kratovil into PG further south with Hoyer coming into AA from the north and south works well and would probably also be better for Hoyer.

I would definitely welcome your input, but am tied up and won't be able to discuss today. I'll get back in contact with you to work out the AA piece.

Thanks,

Eric

Thanks Eric. Very helpful. One more question on this. How many of the AAC people would be new people to the 3rd District.

Also, let me know if you would like to discuss the potential realignment in AAC so that we can drop these new areas and still get Kratovil and Hoyer what they need in terms of overall numbers.

Jason,

The Data you requested in attached. Clearly the third district changes significantly more the 8th in these scenarios. Frankly the number even surprised me as I focused on adding the best areas in Howard and PG I could to improve the district while then working to improve the 2nd by dropping some of its bad areas to the third in an effort to bring up both districts. I will work through what we discussed on the phone and get back in touch with you. Thanks again for coming to our office today and helping us understand your circumstances so that we can improve the options.
