TERRENCE WISE, et al.,

Plaintiffs,

v.

STATE OF MISSOURI, et al.,

Defendants.

Case No. 2516-CV29597

INTERVENOR MISSOURI REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE'S
ANSWER TO PETITION FOR INJUNCTIVE AND DECLARATORY RELIEF

Intervenor Missouri Republican State Committee hereby states for its Answer to Petition for Injunctive and Declaratory Relief as follows:

INTRODUCTION

1. At the demand of President Trump and contrary to the plain text of Missouri's Constitution and decades of precedent, Governor Kehoe recently called an Extraordinary Session of the Missouri Legislature to jam through an unconstitutional mid-decade redraw of the State's congressional districts with the goal of preventing Kansas City voters from electing their preferred candidate to Congress.

ANSWER: Paragraph 1 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

2. With no transparency and in a highly rushed process, the Legislature sprinted through hearings and enacted a new map in just a week and half's time.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies all allegations in Paragraph 2.

3. While publicly acknowledging that the map was being redrawn to defeat Black Democratic Congressman Emmanuel Cleaver—the longtime representative of the Kansas City metropolitan area in Congress—Governor Kehoe nonsensically cited the obviously pretextual claim that there was some Voting Rights Act or Fourteenth Amendment violation with the 2022 map in his Proclamation calling the Extraordinary Session. This was never explained, left even the sponsor puzzled at the committee hearing when asked, and is inexplicable.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies all allegations in Paragraph 3.

4. The map was pushed through in such a slapdash and rushed manner that the bill text double assigns one Kansas City precinct to two different congressional districts, creating a map that is malapportioned and/or noncontiguous.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies all allegations in Paragraph 4.

5. But worse are the even more serious constitutional violations. Article III, Section 45 of Missouri’s Constitution prohibits the Legislature from enacting more than one congressional redistricting plan per decade. Only after each decennial census may the Legislature redistrict. The Missouri Supreme Court has long held that “only one valid apportionment is intended for each decennial period. This must be true because the decennial census is made the basis of reapportionment.” Preisler v. Doherty, 284 S.W.2d 427, 436-37 (Mo. banc 1955).

ANSWER: Paragraph 5 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

6. The same constitutional provision mandates that congressional districts be configured in a manner that is as compact as may be, which

Missouri law defines as comprising closely united territory. The 2022 Map's configuration of CDs 4 and 5 complied with that requirement, but the 2025 Map's configuration assuredly does not. The Kansas City metropolitan area, which was once whole in a compact CD 5, is now splintered apart into meandering, misshapen districts that combine rural, suburban, and urban areas with little shared interests and vastly different representational needs. CDs 4 and 5 are nowhere near as compact as may be, as the 2022 Map's configuration—and other alternative configurations—plainly reveals.

ANSWER: Paragraph 6 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

7. The 2025 Map is unconstitutional in a host of ways and must be enjoined.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

8. This Court has original subject matter jurisdiction over this action under §§ 478.220, 526.030, and 527.010 and Rules 87.01 and 92.01.¹

ANSWER: Paragraph 8 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

9. Venue is proper in this Court because several Defendants, including the Jackson County Board of Election Commissioners and the Kansas City Board of Election Commissioners, maintain offices in Jackson County, Missouri. § 508.010.2.

ANSWER: Paragraph 9 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

PARTIES

10. Plaintiff Terrence Wise is a resident of Kansas City. He resided in CD 5 under Missouri's 2022 Map and resides in Congressional District ("CD") 5 under Missouri's 2025 Map.

ANSWER: Intervenor is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of Paragraph 10 and, therefore, denies the same.

11. Plaintiff Ashley Ball is a resident of Kansas City. She resided in CD 5 under Missouri's 2022 Map and resides in CD 5 under Missouri's 2025 Map.

ANSWER: Intervenor is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of Paragraph 11 and, therefore, denies the same.

12. Plaintiff Aimee Riederer Gromowsky is a resident of Kansas City. She resided in CD 5 under Missouri's 2022 Map and resides in CD 4 under Missouri's 2025 Map.

ANSWER: Intervenor is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of Paragraph 12 and, therefore, denies the same.

13. Plaintiff Cynthia Wrehe is a resident of Lee's Summit. She resided in CD 5 under Missouri's 2022 Map and resides in CD 4 under Missouri's 2025 Map.

ANSWER: Intervenor is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of Paragraph 13 and, therefore, denies the same.

14. Plaintiff Cynthia Kay Lakin is a resident of Kansas City. She resided in CD 5 under Missouri's 2022 Map and resides in CD 6 under Missouri's 2025 Map.

ANSWER: Intervenor is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of Paragraph 14 and, therefore, denies the same.

15. Plaintiffs have standing to challenge the 2025 Map as voters who reside in districts that have been unlawfully altered.

ANSWER: Paragraph 15 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

16. Defendant State of Missouri enforces the State's congressional district boundaries.

ANSWER: Paragraph 16 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

17. Defendant Denny Hoskins is sued in his official capacity as the Missouri Secretary of State. As Secretary of State, Hoskins serves as the state's chief election officer. §§ 28.035, 115.136. His duties include, inter alia, managing elections, providing training to local election authorities (LEAs), accepting declarations of candidacy for congressional candidates, providing LEAs with certified lists of the candidates running for office in each district, convening the Board of State Canvassers to tally the results received from LEAs, and announcing the election outcomes for federal and state office, including congressional elections. See Mo. Const. art. IV, § 18; §§ 115.353(1), 115.387, 115.401, 115.511.

ANSWER: Paragraph 17 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

18. LEAs are responsible for the administration of all local, state, and federal elections within their jurisdiction. §§ 115.023, 115.043.

ANSWER: Paragraph 18 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

19. Missouri has 116 LEAs; 110 are County Clerks and 6 are Boards of Election. §§ 115.015, 115.017, 115.021.

ANSWER: Paragraph 19 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

20. Defendant Jackson County Board of Election Commissioners (“JCEB”) is the body serving as the LEA for the jurisdiction that includes the areas of Jackson County outside of the municipality of Kansas City.² § 115.015. The JCEB is responsible for the administration of all elections in its jurisdiction, including congressional elections. §§ 115.023, 115.043. Its responsibilities include, inter alia, establishing precinct boundaries, designating polling places, identifying the persons eligible to vote in each precinct, processing voter registrations, appointing and directing poll workers, notifying the public of elections and candidates, printing and delivering ballots, and announcing the results of elections held within its jurisdiction. See §§ 115.113, 115.115, 115.079, 115.099, 115.127, 115.163, 115.247, 115.389, 115.393, 115.499. The JCEB must deliver to the Secretary of State the abstracts of the votes cast in its jurisdiction for federal and state office, including for representatives in Congress. § 115.507.

ANSWER: Paragraph 20 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

21. Defendant Michael K. Whitehead is sued in his official capacity as a commissioner and chairman of the JCEB. He is a proper defendant for his role in discharging the powers and duties of the JCEB. § 115.027.

ANSWER: Paragraph 21 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

22. Defendant Henry R. Carner is sued in his official capacity as a commissioner and secretary of the JCEB. He is a proper defendant for his role in discharging the powers and duties of the JCEB. § 115.027.

ANSWER: Paragraph 22 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

23. Defendant Colleen M. Scott is sued in her official capacity as a commissioner of the JCEB. She is a proper defendant for her role in discharging the powers and duties of the JCEB. § 115.027.

ANSWER: Paragraph 23 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

24. Defendant Lyle K. Querry is sued in his official capacity as a commissioner of the JCEB. He is a proper defendant for his role in discharging the powers and duties of the JCEB. § 115.027.

ANSWER: Paragraph 24 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

25. Defendant Tammy Brown is sued in her official capacity as a director of the JCEB. She is a proper defendant for her role in discharging the powers and duties of the JCEB. § 115.045.

ANSWER: Paragraph 25 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

26. Defendant Sara Zorich is sued in her official capacity as a director of the JCEB. She is a proper defendant for her role in discharging the powers and duties of the JCEB. § 115.045.

ANSWER: Paragraph 26 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

27. Defendant Kansas City Board of Election Commissioners (“KCEB”) is the body serving as the LEA for the jurisdiction that includes the municipality of Kansas City.³ § 115.015. The KCEB is responsible for the administration of all elections in municipality of Kansas City, including congressional elections. §§ 115.023, 115.043. Its responsibilities include, inter alia, establishing precinct boundaries, designating polling places, identifying the persons eligible to vote in each precinct, processing voter registrations, appointing and directing poll workers, notifying the public of elections and candidates, printing and delivering ballots, and announcing the results of elections held within its jurisdiction. See §§ 115.113, 115.115, 115.079, 115.099, 115.127, 115.163, 115.247, 115.389, 115.393, 115.499. The KCEB must deliver to the Secretary of State the abstracts of the votes cast in its jurisdiction for federal and state office, including for representatives in Congress. § 115.507.

ANSWER: Paragraph 27 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

28. Defendant Sarah (Sally) Miller is sued in her official capacity as a commissioner and chair of the KCEB. She is a proper defendant for her role in discharging the powers and duties of the KCEB. § 115.027.

ANSWER: Paragraph 28 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

29. Defendant Sharon Turner Buie is sued in her official capacity as a commissioner and secretary of the KCEB. She is a proper defendant for her role in discharging the powers and duties of the KCEB. § 115.027.

ANSWER: Paragraph 29 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

30. Defendant Ralph F. Munyan II is sued in his official capacity as a commissioner of the KCEB. He is a proper defendant for his role in discharging the powers and duties of the KCEB. § 115.027.

ANSWER: Paragraph 30 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

31. Defendant Shawn Kieffer is sued in his official capacity as a director of the KCEB. He is a proper defendant for his role in discharging the powers and duties of the KCEB. § 115.045.

ANSWER: Paragraph 31 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

32. Defendant Lauri Ealom is sued in her official capacity as a director of the KCEB. She is a proper defendant for her role in discharging the powers and duties of the KCEB. § 115.045.

ANSWER: Paragraph 32 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

LEGAL BACKGROUND

33. Article III, § 45 of the Missouri Constitution, entitled “Congressional apportionment,” governs congressional redistricting and provides that “[w]hen the number of representatives to which the state is entitled in the House of Congress of the United States under . . . each census . . . is certified to the governor, the general assembly shall by law divide the state into districts corresponding with the number of representatives to which it is entitled, which districts shall be composed of contiguous territory as compact and nearly equal in population as may be.”

ANSWER: Mo. Const. art. III, § 45 speaks for itself. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

34. Article III, § 45 authorizes congressional redistricting “[w]hen the number of representatives to which the state is entitled . . . under . . . each census . . . is certified to the governor.” That allocation of congressional representatives among the various states is a process known as apportionment, which occurs every ten years under the Enumeration Clause of the U.S. Constitution and under the Census Act. U.S. Const. art. I, § 2, cl. 3; 13 U.S.C. § 141(a)-(c).

ANSWER: Mo. Const. art. III, § 45 speaks for itself. Paragraph 34 is also a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

35. The Missouri Constitution does not authorize the redrawing of congressional districts in any other circumstance or at any other time. Article

III, § 10 of the Missouri Constitution authorizes redistricting of senate and house districts for the state legislature “as public convenience may require.” No such authority exists to redistrict the lines used to elect representatives to the Congress.

ANSWER: Paragraph 35 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

36. As the Missouri Supreme Court has explained, Article III, § 45 is “triggered” when U.S. Census results reveal how many congressional seats to which the state is entitled. Pearson v. Koster, 359 S.W.3d 35, 37-38 (Mo. banc 2012) (“Pearson I”). Once the General Assembly has drawn new congressional districts upon those census results, having been certified to the Governor, those districts “take effect for the [next] election and remain in place for the next decade or until a Census shows that the districts should change.” Id.

ANSWER: Paragraph 36 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

37. That last redistricting process based upon such census results was completed on May 18, 2022, when Missouri enacted new congressional districts following the 2020 Census and apportionment.⁴

ANSWER: Intervenor admits the allegations in Paragraph 37.

38. The next apportionment process will not occur until after the 2030 Census. Even if another census is taken prior to 2030, i.e., a mid-decade census, the results may not be used for apportionment—only the regular decennial census may serve that purpose. 13 U.S.C. § 141(e)(2).

⁴ H.B. 2909, 101st Gen. Assemb., 2nd Reg. Sess. (Mo. 2022), <https://house.mo.gov/bill.aspx?bill=HB2909&year=2022&code=R>.

ANSWER: Paragraph 38 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

39. Article III, § 45 first took effect more than seventy years ago, as of the 1950 Census. See Mo. Const. art. III, § 45 (“When the number of representatives to which the state is entitled in the House of the Congress of the United States under the census of 1950 and each census thereafter is certified to the governor”).

ANSWER: Mo. Const. art. III, § 45 speaks for itself. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

40. During that time, Missouri has conducted congressional redistricting only once every decade, in response to the decennial census and apportionment. See Pearson v. Koster, 367 S.W.3d 36, 57 (Mo. banc 2012) (“Pearson II”) (Appendix A containing congressional maps from 1921 through 2012).

ANSWER: Paragraph 40 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

41. Article III, § 45 also mandates that districts be “as compact as may be.”

ANSWER: Mo. Const. art. III, § 45 speaks for itself. Paragraph 41 is also a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

42. The compactness requirement applies to “each district,” and the compactness of the map as a whole is less relevant. Pearson II, 367 S.W.3d at 54 n.16, 55.

ANSWER: Paragraph 42 is a conclusion of law, not an averment

of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

43. The Missouri Supreme Court has held that this compactness requirement means “closely united territory” and that it “does not refer solely to physical shape or size,” though those considerations are “relevant.” Pearson II, 367 S.W.3d at 48-49. According to a treatise relied upon by the Court in Pearson II, compactness and “closely united territory” may also refer to whether the electoral district is “conducive to communication and interaction among representatives and constituents.” See id.; Kurtis A. Kempter, Annotation, Application of Constitutional “Compactness Requirement” to Redistricting, 114 A.L.R.5th 311, Part II, § 3[b] (2003).

ANSWER: Paragraph 43 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

44. The Court explained that the provision’s “as may be” standard also recognizes that there are other recognized factors that affect the ability to draw district boundaries with closely united territory.” Id. at 49.

ANSWER: Paragraph 44 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

45. These “recognized factors” include the provision’s mandatory requirements of “contiguous territory and population equality,” as well as compliance with federal law, including the Voting Rights Act. Id.

ANSWER: Paragraph 45 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

46. The “compact . . . as may be” standard “implicitly permits consideration” of certain other recognized factors: “population density; natural boundary lines; the boundaries of political subdivisions, including counties, municipalities, and precincts; and the historical boundary lines of prior redistricting maps.” Id. at 50.

ANSWER: Paragraph 46 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

47. As the Court explained, “[c]onsideration of historical district boundaries allows residents of a district to continue any relationships such residents may have established with their elected representatives and to avoid the detriment to residents of having to reestablish relationships when district boundaries change.” Id. at 50 n.12.

ANSWER: Paragraph 47 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

48. The Court likewise explained that “to recognize that ‘districting, without any regard for political subdivision or natural or historical boundary lines, may be little more than an open invitation to partisan gerrymandering.’” Id. at 50 (quoting Preisler v. Kirkpatrick, 528 S.W.2d 422, 425 (Mo. banc. 1975)).

ANSWER: Paragraph 48 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

49. Consideration of the non-mandatory, recognized factors may justify “minimal and practical deviations” from compactness, but the state is not free to “disregard” that constitutional requirement. Id. at 51; see also State ex rel. Barrett v. Hitchcock, 146 S.W. 40, 53 (Mo. 1912) (describing the state as having “a limited degree of discretion” on compactness in the drawing of state legislative districts).

ANSWER: Paragraph 49 is a conclusion of law, not an averment

of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

50. The “as may be” standard does not permit deviation from Article III, § 45’s contiguity, equal population, or compactness mandates for partisan or political reasons. The Missouri Supreme Court has long understood that the purpose of those requirements is “to guard, as far as practicable . . . against a legislative evil, commonly known as the gerrymander.” Preisler, 284 S.W.2d at 435 (citing Hitchcock, 146 S.W. at 61, 65) (quotation marks omitted).

ANSWER: Paragraph 50 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

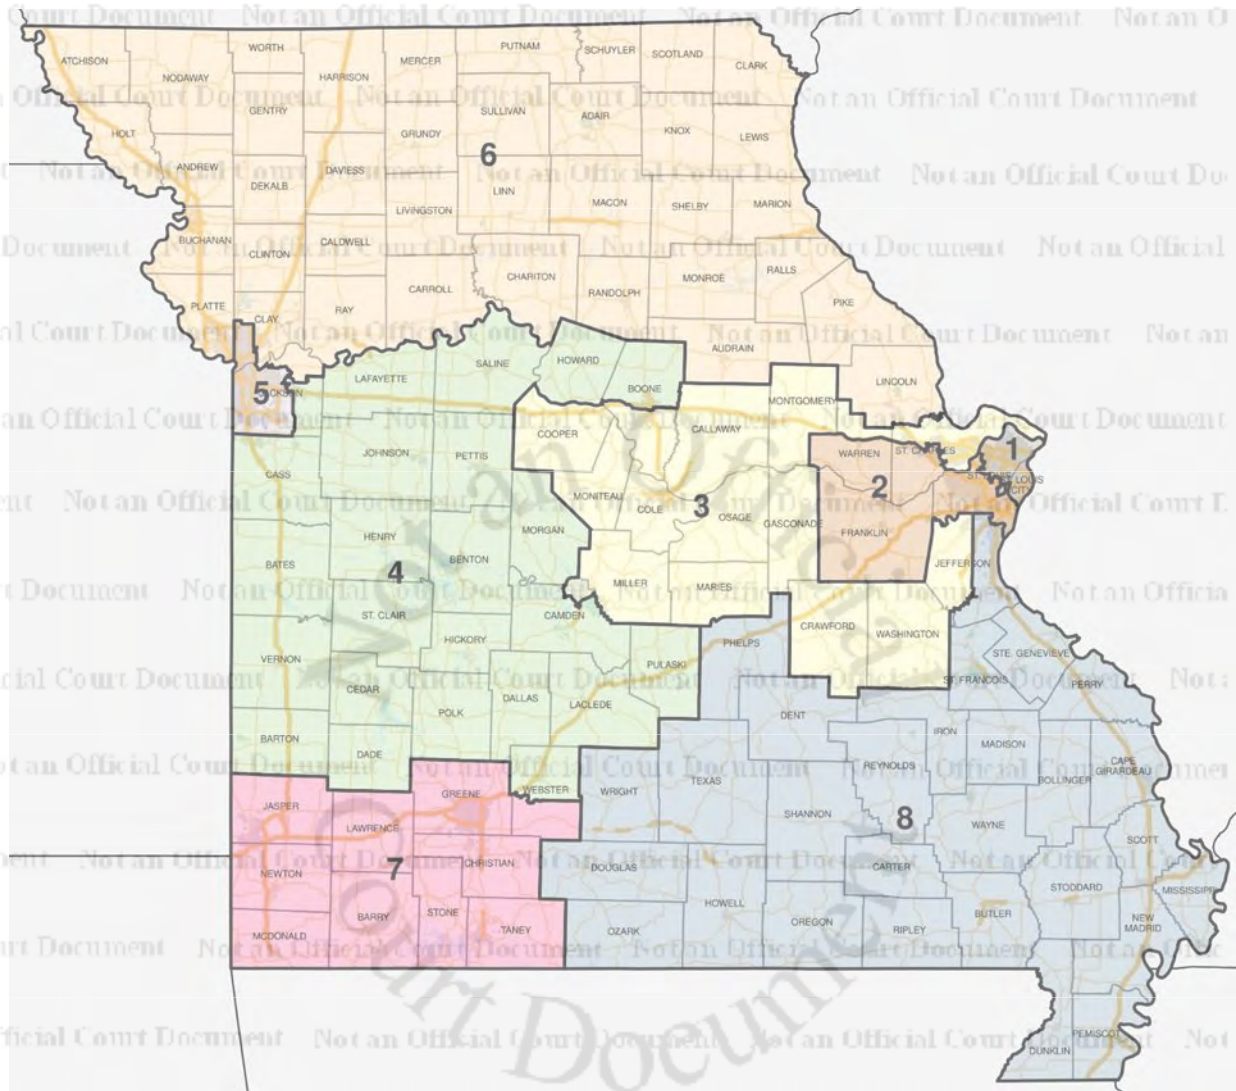

FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

51. In 2022, the Missouri General Assembly enacted a redistricting map (the “2022 Map”) to reconfigure Missouri’s eight congressional districts to balance population in light of the 2020 Census.

ANSWER: Intervenor admits the General Assembly enacted a redistricting plan for congressional districts in 2022 and denies all other allegations in Paragraph 51.

52. The 2022 Map, which has been used in all 2022 and 2024 elections, is shown below.

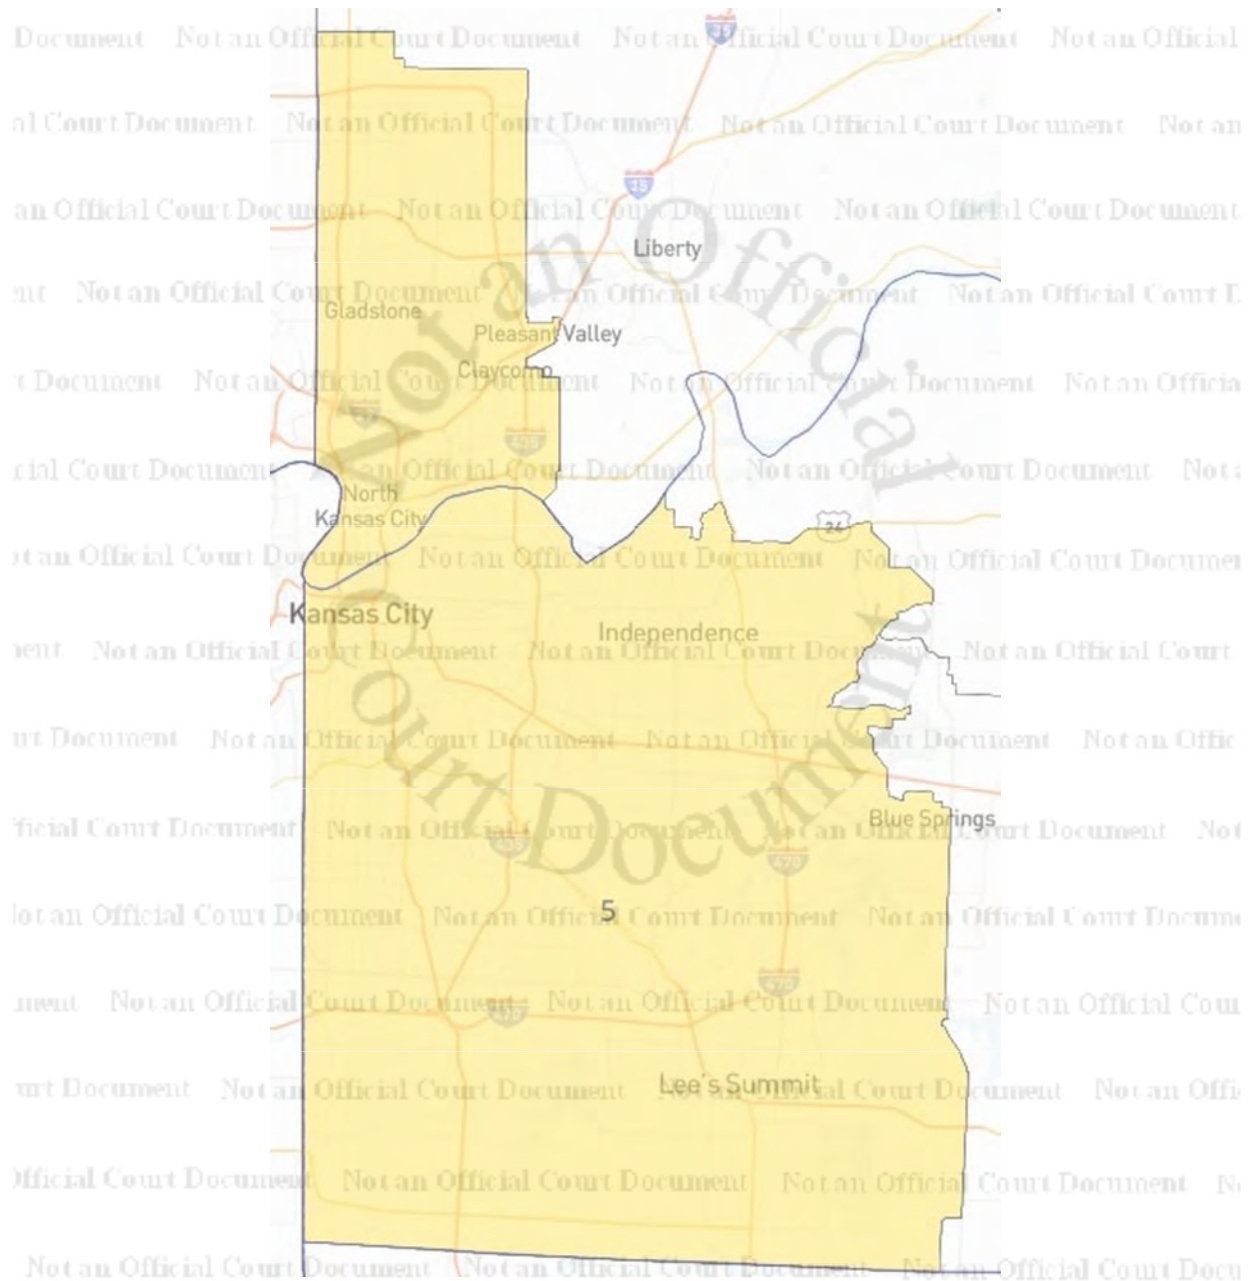

ANSWER: Intervenor admits that map appears to reflect the redistricting plan that was enacted by the General Assembly in 2022 and used in the 2022 and 2024 primary and general elections.

53. CD 5 is a compact district that comprises the closely united territory and residents of the Kansas City metropolitan area.

ANSWER: Paragraph 53 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

54. CD 5 includes the Jackson County portion of Kansas City and the Jackson County suburbs, including Grandview, Lee's Summit, and most of Independence. It likewise includes most of the Clay County section of Kansas City, as well as North Kansas City, Randolph, and Gladstone. A close-up image of CD 5 with additional street details is shown below.

ANSWER: Intervenor admits that map appears to reflect CD5 as provided in the redistricting plan that was enacted by the General Assembly in 2022.

55. The 2022 Map's configuration of CD 5 respects the area's communities of interest, specifically the commonalities that urban and suburban residents of the Kansas City metropolitan area share.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations in Paragraph 55.

56. The greater Kansas City communities united in CD 5 share, for instance, a more multicultural, metropolitan character than the surrounding rural communities in CDs 4 and 6.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 56.

57. The communities united in CD 5 also share many of the concerns unique to a metropolitan center, which distinguish them from the rural and small-town populations surrounding them.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 57.

58. For example, residents of CD 5 share in an urban/suburban economy characterized by relatively higher levels of employment in the service sector, finance, healthcare, technology, and government.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 58.

59. CD 5 residents also share economic concerns distinct to the district's geography, including the location of professional sports team facilities and the associated economic impact, urban development (including walkable neighborhoods within busy city centers), and the availability of public transportation (including existing and ongoing streetcar construction and access).

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 59.

60. In addition, residents of CD 5 are more likely to rent their homes than residents of surrounding rural districts. They face shared concerns over the availability of affordable housing due to rising rents, rising demand, and lagging supply.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 60.

61. CD 5 communities also confront longstanding concerns over residential segregation, racial disparities in rent prices and home values, and the continuing effects of white flight to immediately surrounding suburbs.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 61.

62. These concerns are exemplified by the Troost Avenue Divide, which has long served as an historic dividing line between Kansas City's Black and white communities due to racist redlining, racial covenants, targeted disinvestment, and other government-supported efforts.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 62.

63. The school systems serving CD 5 residents are marked by similar disparities in educational access, resources, and outcomes. Addressing these disparities remains a central concern shared across the communities within CD 5.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 63.

64. By keeping the closely united communities of the Kansas City metropolitan area together in CD 5, the 2022 Map ensures that these persistent divides can be addressed through coherent representation in Congress, rather than diluted across districts that do not share in these challenges.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 64.

65. The Kansas City metropolitan communities are also closely united by a shared public transit system coordinated by the Kansas City Regional Transit Authority, or RideKC. As shown below, the RideKC Service Map falls almost exclusively within the boundaries of CD 5, underscoring its closely united territory and the shared interest of its urban/suburban voters in access to reliable public transportation.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 65.

66. In addition to closely uniting both the urban and suburban territory of the Kansas City metropolitan area, CD 5 is highly compact in both its size and shape. Consistent with Missouri's population density, CD 5 (like St. Louis-based CD 1) is small in size.

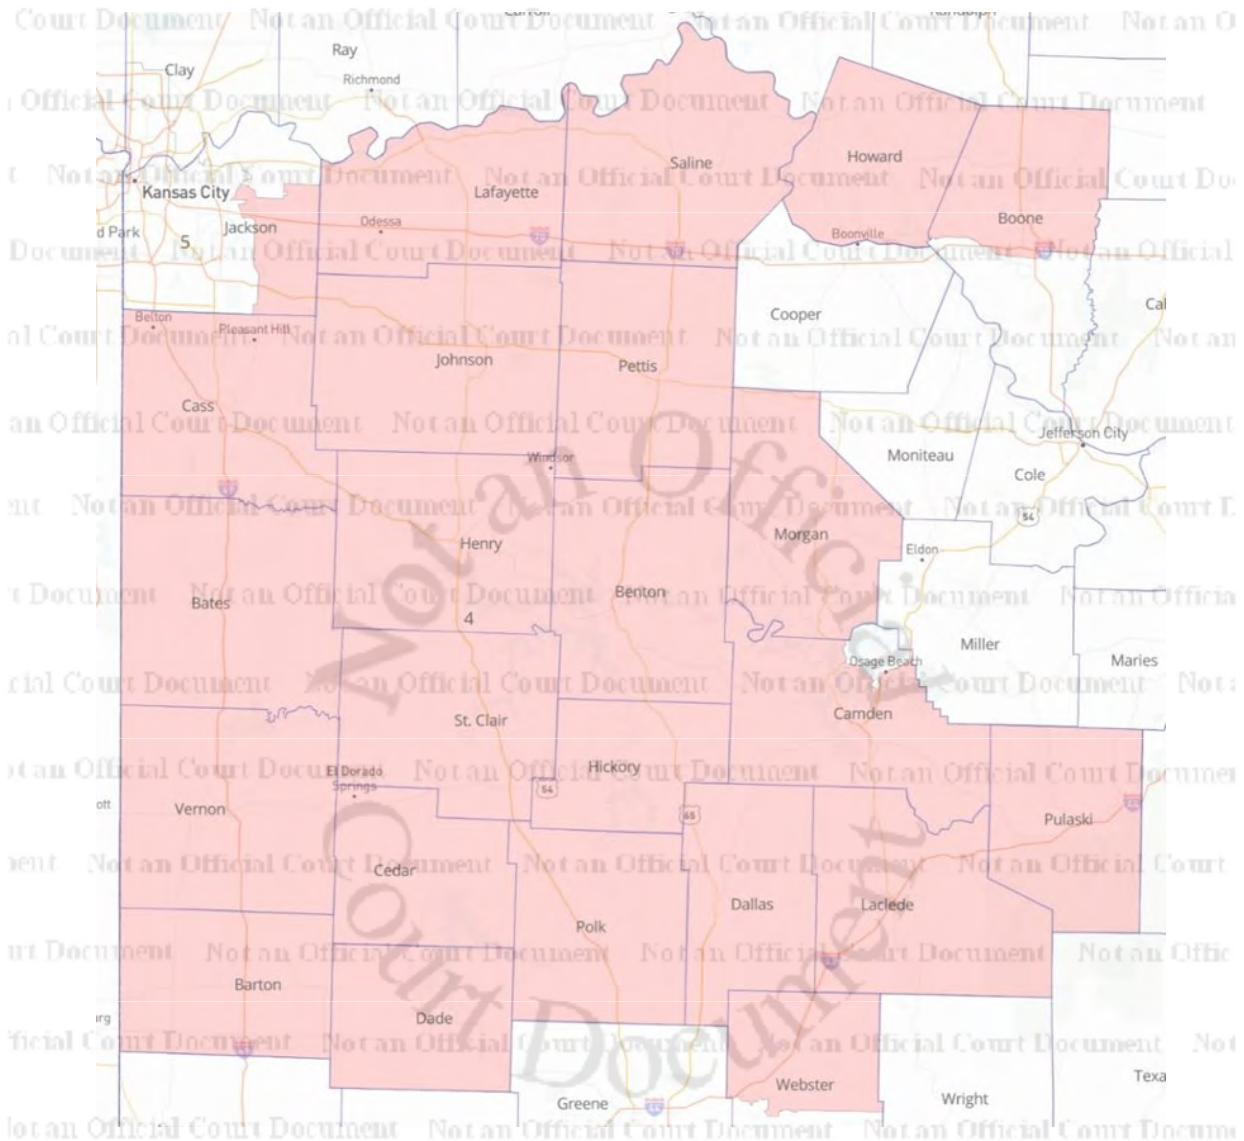

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 66.

67. The 2022 Map's configuration of neighboring CD 4 is also compact, joining together closely united rural territory in west central Missouri. It includes exurban communities in the eastern part of Jackson County just beyond the metropolitan area, such as Grain Valley, Oak Grove, Lone Jack, and parts of Blue Springs. Much of the district encompasses the small rural towns of west central Missouri along the Missouri River and within the Osage River watershed, including the whole counties of Lafayette, Saline, Howard, Cass, Johnson, Pettis, Bates, Henry, Benton, Morgan, Vernon, St. Clair, Hickory, Barton, Dade, Polk, Dallas, Laclede, and Pulaski, and portions of Boone, Camden, and Webster counties.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 67.

68. A close-up image of CD 4 with street details and county lines and labels is shown below.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 68.

69. The 2022 Map's configuration of CD 4 respects the communities of interest of west-central Missouri and the many commonalities and representational concerns that its rural and exurban residents share.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 69.

70. For example, rural residents of CD 4 operate in a rural economy centered on farming, agriculture, ranching, manufacturing plants, and small businesses (often locally owned). They also share concerns related to maintaining these industries and keeping small-town economies alive.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 70.

71. Rural communities in west-central Missouri likewise share an interest in maintaining and expanding rural infrastructure, including roads, bridges, food access (including farm-to-market connectivity), and broadband access.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 71.

72. Funding to ensure access to health services and hospital care is also a common concern among these rural communities.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 72.

73. Consistent with Missouri's rural population density patterns, CD 4 covers a relatively larger geographic area than the more metropolitan CDs 1 and 5. This geographic size is necessary to satisfy the constitutional requirement that districts be drawn with equal population. Even with that need, CD 4 follows county and natural boundaries, and the district as configured in 2022 was both reasonable in form and as compact as may be.

82. Under the 2022 Map, Republicans have won more congressional seats than their share of the statewide voting population, as determined by statewide election results.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 82.

83. In 2020, for example, the Republican presidential candidate received 58% of Missouri's two-party vote share, compared to 42% for the Democratic candidate.

ANSWER: Intervenor is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of Paragraph 83 and, therefore, denies the same.

84. It was the same in 2024: the Republican presidential candidate received 59% of the state's two-party vote share, compared to 41% for the Democratic candidate.

Missouri’s Unprecedented 2025 Mid-Decade Redistricting

89. In late July 2025, President Trump and his staff began pressuring Missouri lawmakers to enact a new congressional district map to dismantle CD 5, aiming to defeat Rep. Cleaver and guarantee another Republican congressional seat in the 2026 midterm election.⁷

Missouri’s 2025 Congressional Map(s)

113. At no point before or during the legislative session did any member of the General Assembly release the new congressional map enacted via H.B. 1 (the “2025 Map”) in an electronic geographic format that would enable public inspection of the map and its underlying data.

ANSWER: Intervenor is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of Paragraph 113 and, therefore, denies the same.

114. All the General Assembly made available to the public was a PDF image of the 2025 Map and the text of H.B. 1 itself.

ANSWER: Intervenor is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of Paragraph 114 and, therefore, denies the same.

115. The text of H.B. 1 identifies the voting tabulation districts (“VTDs”) assigned to each district and if a VTD is split between two districts, the census blocks from that VTD assigned to each district.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 115.

116. VTDs typically correspond to a state’s precincts, the smallest geographic unit states create for the purpose of administering elections. Census blocks are the smallest geography at which decennial census population data is reported.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 116.

117. For a statute to fully and unambiguously set out the boundaries of a state’s congressional districts, it must assign every VTD (or block) in the state to a congressional district, and no VTD (or block) can be assigned to more than one congressional district.

ANSWER: Paragraph 117 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

118. In its rush to quickly enact the 2025 Map, the Legislature assigned one VTD— Kansas City VTD 811—to both CDs 4 and 5. VTD 811 (population 875) is a noncontiguous VTD, meaning that it encompasses two separated territories in Kansas City. As shown in the maps below, VTD 811 consists of a rectangular area to the east (population 843) and a smaller triangular area to the west (population 32) that is completely disconnected from the rest of the VTD. If the Legislature meant to split the VTD and assign its noncontiguous parts to different districts, it did not specify as much.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 118.

119. The text of H.B. 1 therefore enacts both of the below maps:

VTD Kansas City 811 Assigned to CD 4

VTD Kansas City Assigned to CD 5

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 119.

120. What the text of H.B. 1 clearly does not enact is a map that splits Kansas City VTD 811 between CD's 4 and 5, as that would require specifying the Census Blocks of each to be allocated to either district.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 120.

121. Instead, Defendants KCEB and its officials are unconstitutionally tasked with assigning Kansas City VTD 811 to two different congressional districts under H.B. 1.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 121.

122. As a result, H.B. 1 effectively grants each resident of VTD 811 two votes in congressional elections, as each person would be able to participate in elections occurring in both CD 4 and CD 5.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 122.

123. Under either version of the map enacted by H.B. 1, CDs 4 and 5 are consequently malapportioned. In the version in which VTD 811 is assigned to CD 4, CD 4 has 843 more people than ideal, and CD 5 has 843 fewer people than ideal. In the version in which VTD 811 is assigned to CD 5, CD 5 has 32 people too many, and CD 4 has 32 people too few. In addition, CD 5 in this version is noncontiguous.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 123.

124. Undoubtedly, the Legislature meant to split this VTD between CDs 4 and 5. But the text of H.B. 1 does not accomplish that. And it is no surprise that the slapdash process in which the Legislature engaged—ramming through the Bill, failing to publicly release an electronic GIS file that legislators, staff, and the public could view and vet, and instead only releasing the district assignments in PDF to obscure the map from any transparency—resulted in the most basic of errors. Missouri’s law now assigns 875 Kansas City residents of VTD 811 to two different congressional districts.

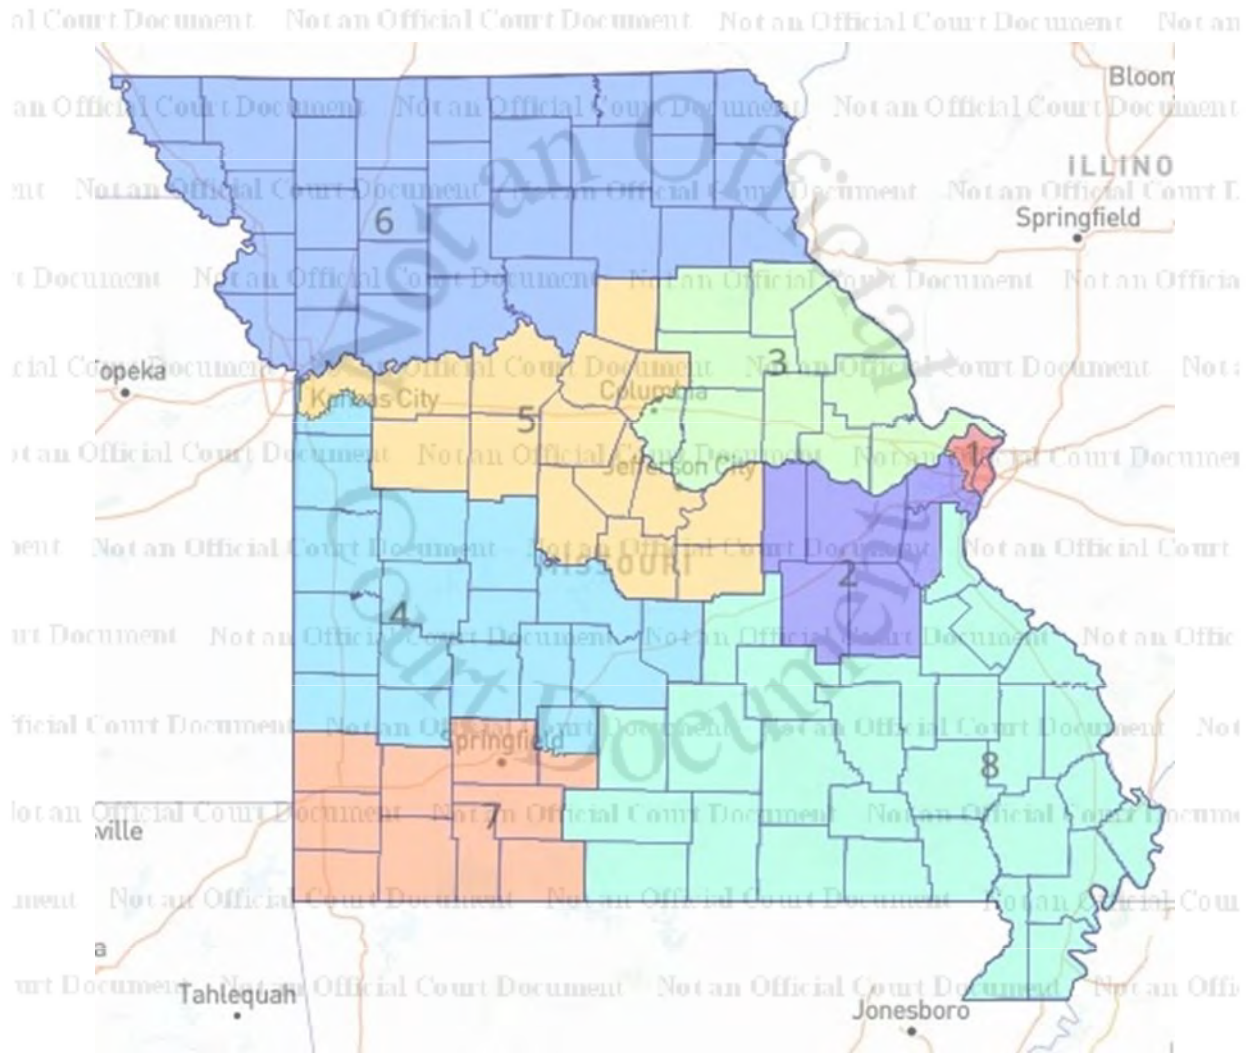

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 124.

125. Even if this basic infirmity is set aside and one assumes the map in fact split this precinct and thus properly populated the map with contiguous districts, the 2025 Map²² is seriously flawed.

²² Plaintiffs refer herein to the 2025 Map as if H.B. 1 had not double-assigned Kansas City VTD 811 and instead split it, as may have been the intent.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 125.

126. The 2025 Map alters six of Missouri's eight congressional districts, concentrating its most sweeping changes in the Kansas City area by substantially reconfiguring CD 4 and dismantling the prior configuration of CD 5. The 2025 Map is shown below.

ANSWER: Intervenor admits that the map appears to be a map of the Congressional Districts properly enacted by the General Assembly and signed by Governor Kehoe and denies all other allegations of Paragraph 126.

127. The 2025 Map no longer unites most of the Kansas City metropolitan area in CD 5. Instead, it splits up the Kansas City metropolitan area among the new CDs 4, 5, and 6, with each district's fragment of the city paired with far-flung rural areas of the state.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 127.

128. The 2025 Map distorts the existing CD 5, turning it from a small, regularly shaped district in the 2022 Map into a long, meandering district that spans hundreds of miles from Kansas City to Columbia and beyond Jefferson City. Only a tiny portion of Kansas City remains in CD 5.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 128.

129. The new CD 5 instead absorbs small exurban towns in Jackson County and substantial rural territory previously in CD 4, including the whole counties of Lafayette, Saline, Howard, Johnson, Pettis, and Morgan, and part of Boone County. The new CD 5 likewise lumps in substantial central Missouri rural territory previously in CD 3, including all of Cooper, Montieau, Cole, Osage, and Maries Counties. And the new CD 5 tacks on Randolph County (previously in CD 6).

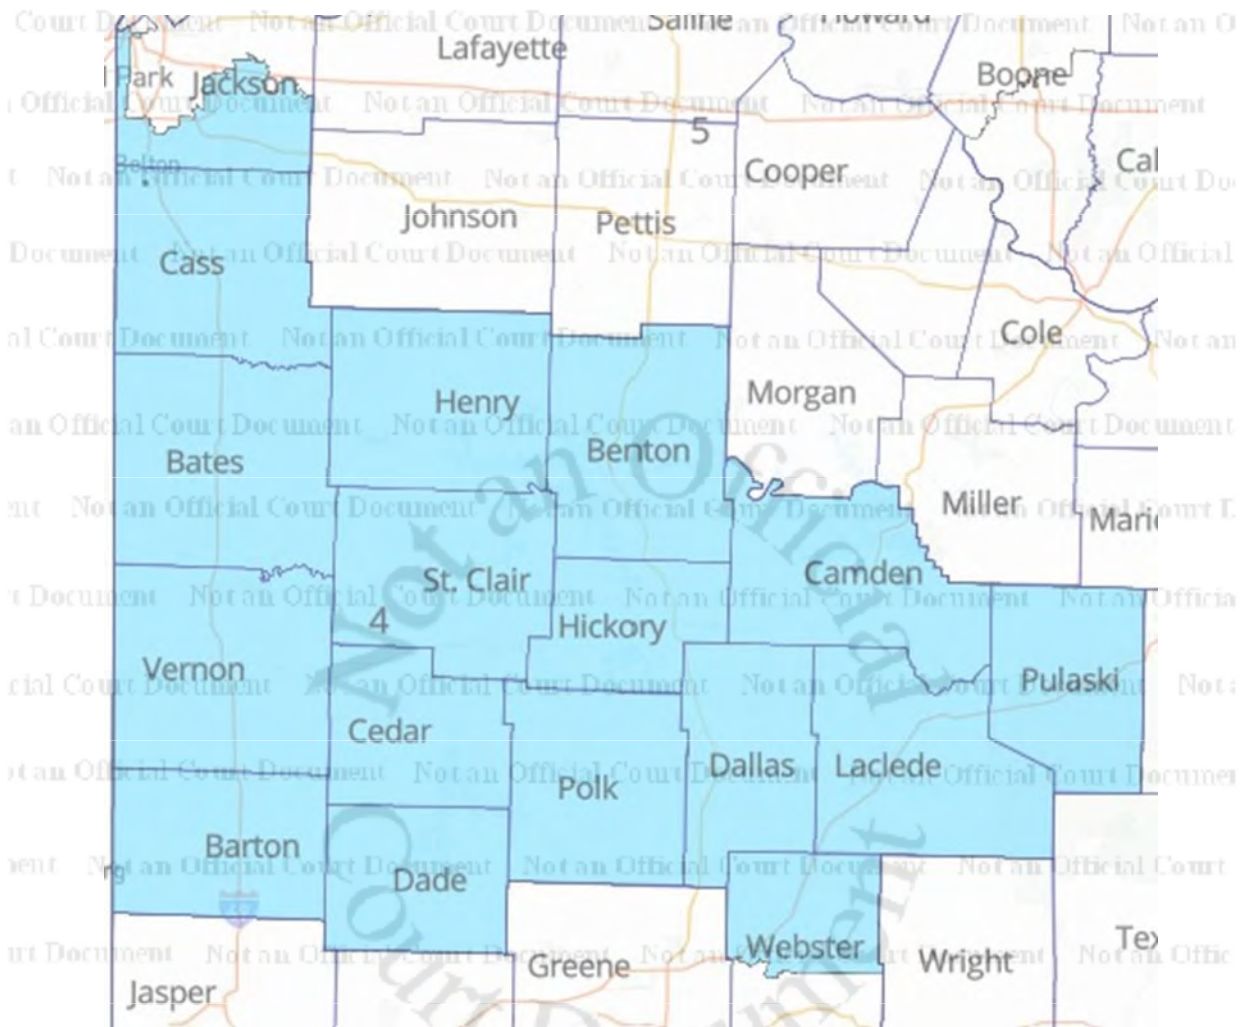

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 129.

130. A close-up image of the new CD 5 with county lines and street details is shown below.

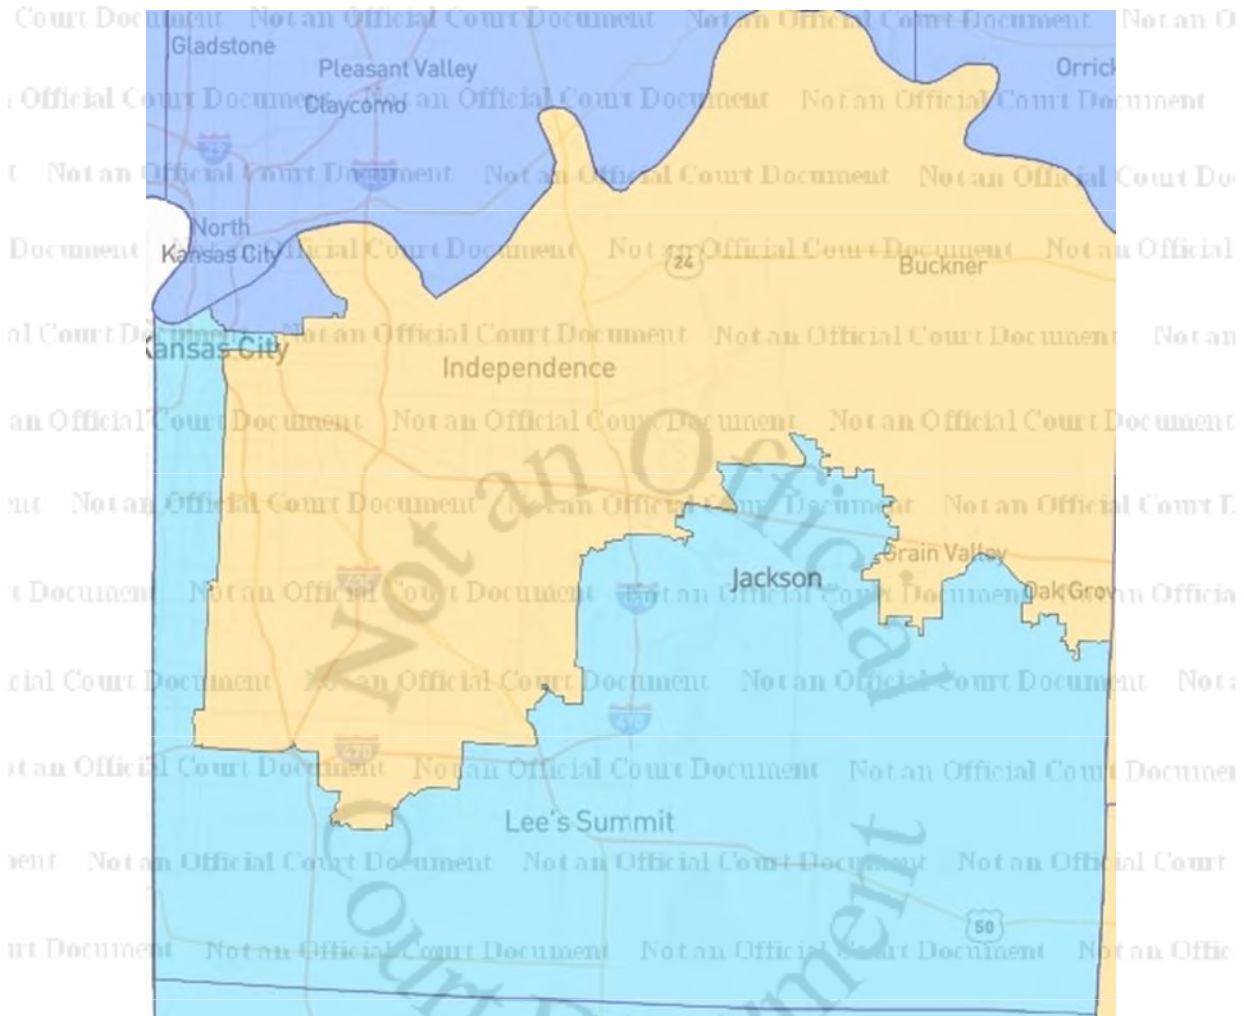

ANSWER: Intervenor admits that the map appears to be a map of CD5 as contained in H.B. 1 and denies all other allegations of Paragraph 130.

131. The new CD 4 in the 2025 Map has been stripped of a substantial part of its rural territory and is instead grafted together with new metropolitan urban/suburban territory in Jackson County, including Lee's Summit, Grandview, and a substantial portion of Kansas City. A close-up image of the new CD 4 with county lines and street details is shown below.

ANSWER: Intervenor admits that the map appears to be a map of CD4 as contained in H.B. 1 and denies all other allegations of Paragraph 131.

132. The new CD 4's extension into Kansas City features a long, narrow appendage jutting up along the western edge of the city. The size and shape of this appendage are highly irregular, as shown in the close-up image of Jackson County below.

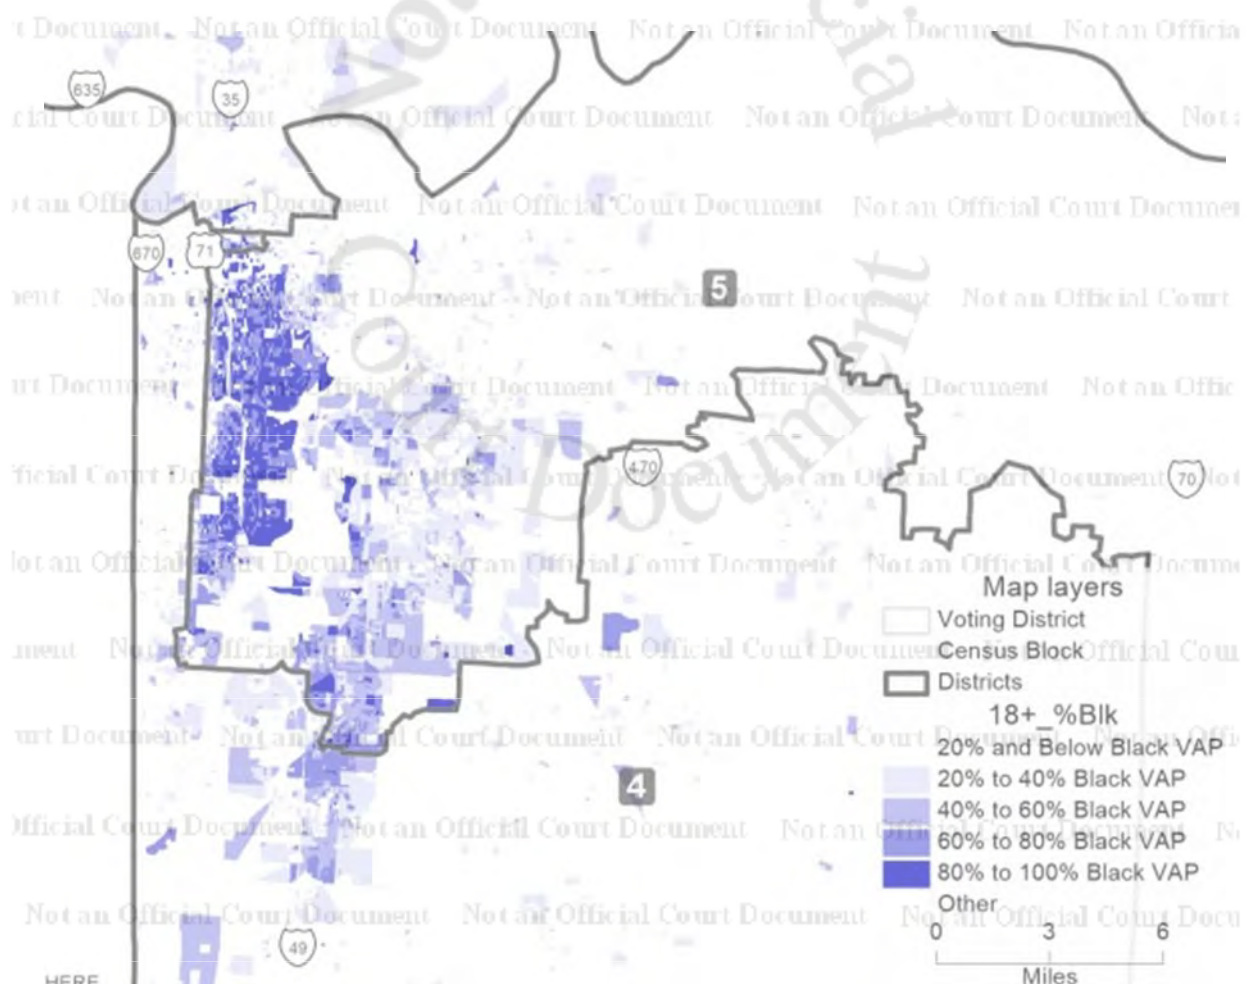

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 132.

133. The eastern boundary of this bizarre giraffe-neck appendage—which forms the border between CDs 4 and 5—follows Holmes Road and Troost Avenue, the historic and current segregating line between Kansas City’s Black and white urban residents.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 133.

134. The map below shows the Kansas City boundary between the new CDs 4 and 5 overlaid on a map displaying the share of the Black voting age population in each census block in shades of blue. It shows that CD 4 captures the predominantly white urban neighborhoods west of the Troost Divide while segregating predominantly Black urban neighborhoods into the new CD 5. The boundary between CDs 4 and 5 only shifts west from Troost Avenue to Holmes Road at the point (around 67th Street) where the precincts just west of Troost Avenue contain substantial Black populations, ensuring that predominantly white precincts are assigned to CD 4 while predominantly Black precincts are confined to CD 5. The reconfigured boundaries of CDs 4 and 5 in the 2025 Map thus separate Kansas City's urban white residents from its urban Black residents, dividing what was once closely unified urban territory in CD 5 along strict racial lines.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 134.

135. The 2025 map's division of Kansas City along racial lines cannot be explained by partisan motivations. As recent federal and statewide election results demonstrate, neighborhoods on both sides of Troost Avenue vote overwhelmingly for Democratic candidates.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 135.

136. The new CDs 4 and 5 in the 2025 Map no longer contain closely united territory and are thus not compact.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 136.

137. At a minimum, the districts are not as compact as may be because they are substantially less compact than their boundary configurations in the 2022 Map. Under the 2022 Map, CD 5 united the Kansas City metropolitan area in a single, reasonably shaped and sized district, while CD 4 encompassed surrounding rural counties in a compact configuration that followed county and natural boundaries as practicable. The 2025 Map abandons those compact arrangements by fracturing Kansas City and Jackson County into multiple districts and attaching those metropolitan communities to distant rural areas, yielding two sprawling, irregular districts that lack compactness.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 137.

138. Quantitative measures of district compactness likewise show that CDs 4 and 5 are substantially less compact under the 2025 Map than under the 2022 Map. For example, one of the most common measures of compactness is the Reock score, which compares the area of the district to the area of its minimum bounding circle. The scores range from 0 to 1, with 1 being the most compact. The 2025 Map's Reock score fell substantially for CD 4, CD 5, and CDs 4 and 5 combined.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 138.

139. The 2025 Map's deviation from compactness in CDs 4 and 5 was not necessary to comply with Article III, § 45's equal population or contiguity requirements. See Pearson II, 367 S.W.3d at 52. The 2022 Map kept CDs 4 and 5 as compact as may be while maintaining uniformly contiguous and equally populated districts.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 139.

140. Nor was reducing the compactness of CDs 4 and 5 necessary to improve the compactness of the state's other congressional districts. See Pearson II, 367 S.W.3d at 52.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 140.

141. The 2025 Map makes no changes to CDs 7 and 8.

ANSWER: Intervenor admits that the allegations of Paragraph 141.

142. Whatever improvements the 2025 Map makes to the compactness of CDs 1, 2, 3, and 6 could have been achieved while retaining the level of compactness of CDs 4 and 5.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 142.

143. Nor did CD 5's compactness need to be reduced to improve CD 4's compactness.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 143.

144. The 2025 Map's deviation from compactness in CDs 4 and 5 was not necessary to comply with any federal law, including the Voting Rights Act (VRA). See Pearson II, 367 S.W.3d at 52.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 144.

145. The sole justification for the 2025 Map offered in the Governor's Proclamation was to avoid a legal challenge under the VRA or the Fourteenth Amendment, “due to a lack of compactness in certain districts” in the 2022 Map. The Governor’s Proclamation did not explain, nor did the legislative process shed light on, which districts lacked compactness such that they risked liability under these laws, nor how the new district lines address this purported lack of compactness.

ANSWER: The Proclamation speaks for itself and Intervenor denies all other allegations of Paragraph 144.

146. The U.S. Supreme Court has explained that when a state invokes the VRA to justify race-based redistricting, it must have “good reasons” for thinking that the Act demanded such steps.” Cooper v. Harris, 581 U.S. 285, 301 (2017). Specifically, the state must show that it has “a strong basis in evidence” for concluding that all three Gingles preconditions are met. Id. at 304. This means the state must conclude, based on evidence, that (1) a minority group is sufficiently large and geographically compact to form a majority in a reasonably configured district, (2) the minority group is politically cohesive, and (3) the majority votes as a bloc to usually defeat the minority’s preferred candidate, demonstrating the presence of racially polarized voting. Id. at 301-02.

ANSWER: Paragraph 146 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

147. The legislative record does not contain any reference to any Gingles analysis.

ANSWER: Intervenor is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of Paragraph 147 and, therefore, denies the same.

148. In any event, if Missouri had been concerned about the 2022 Map violating the VRA, the remedy would have been the creation of an additional district in which minority voters form a majority or could otherwise elect their preferred candidates. See, e.g., Bone Shirt v. Hazeltine, 461 F.3d 1011, 1023 (8th Cir. 2006). No such district was added in the 2025 Map, and therefore VRA compliance cannot explain the changes.

ANSWER: Paragraph 148 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

149. In CD 5, for instance, the 2025 Map decreased the Black voting age population, reducing the minority electoral opportunity in the district.

ANSWER: Intervenor is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of Paragraph 149 and, therefore, denies the same.

150. CD 4's BVAP share was in the single digits in the 2022 Map and remains virtually unchanged.

ANSWER: Intervenor is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of Paragraph 150 and, therefore, denies the same.

151. None of the 2025 Map's districts were drawn with a majority BVAP.

ANSWER: Intervenor is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of Paragraph 151 and, therefore, denies the same.

152. Compliance with the VRA cannot explain the reductions in compactness of CDs 4 and 5.

ANSWER: Paragraph 152 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

153. Nor could any desire to avoid potential liability under the Fourteenth Amendment explain the changes to CDs 4 and 5.

ANSWER: Paragraph 153 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

154. Missouri has not identified any district in the 2022 Map in which race was a predominant factor motivating its design.

ANSWER: Intervenor is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of Paragraph 154 and, therefore, denies the same.

155. Nor has the 2022 Map been subject to any Fourteenth Amendment challenge since its enactment.

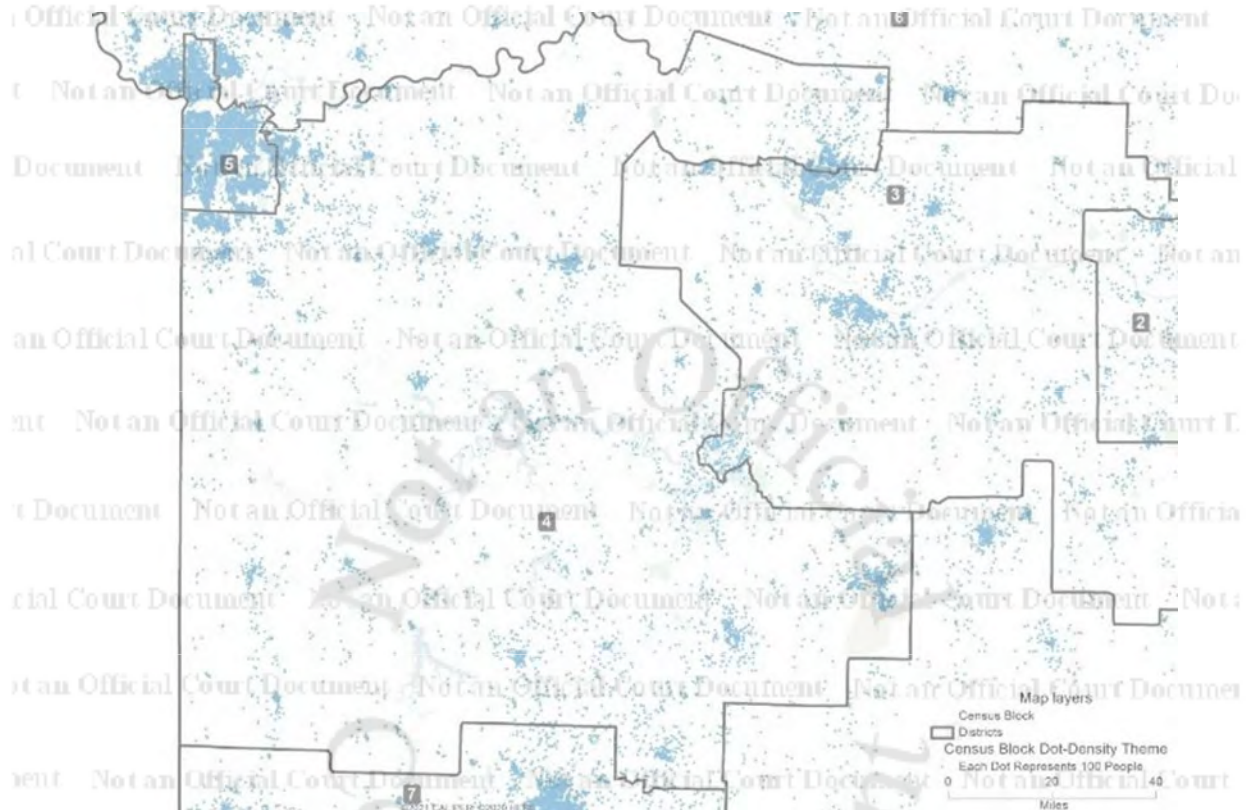

ANSWER: Intervenor is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of Paragraph 155 and, therefore, denies the same.

156. The 2025 Map's deviation from compactness in CDs 4 and 5 does not result from consideration of the state's population density patterns. See Pearson II, 367 S.W.3d at 52.

ANSWER: Paragraph 156 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

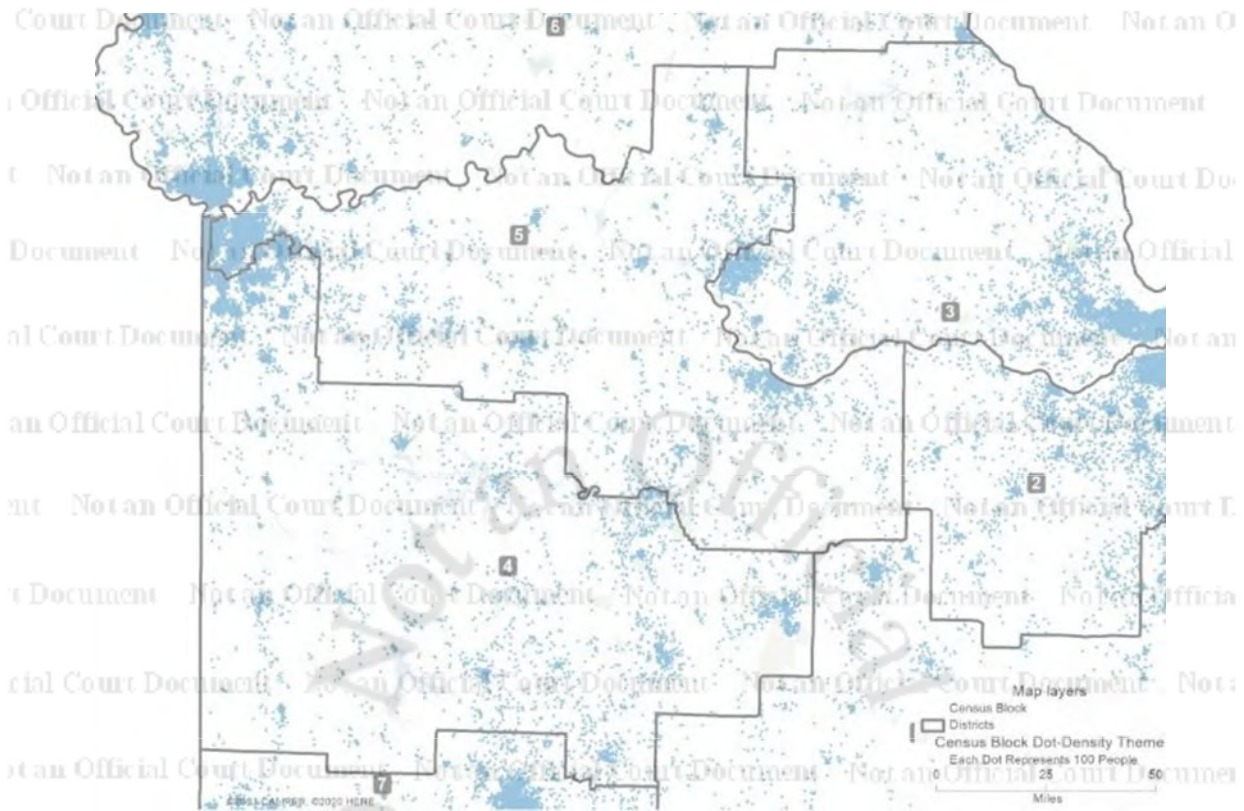

157. The 2022 Map took into consideration population density by grouping areas of similar population densities together. Neighborhoods and political subdivisions with higher urban densities were largely grouped in CD 5, while surrounding counties with far lower rural population densities were grouped in CD 4. As shown in the dot density map below, this configuration ensured that each district reflected communities of comparable density and preserved compactness.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 157.

158. The 2025 Map abandons this recognition of population density entirely. As shown in the dot density map below, the 2025 Map pairs dense urban neighborhoods with sparsely populated rural counties, creating districts with substantial internal disparities in population density distribution. The result is two lopsided districts in CD 4 and 5, both weighted heavily toward the dense population centers in the Kansas City metropolitan area but still stretched far into rural territory. By disregarding density patterns, the 2025 Map fractures the Kansas City urban center and joins with it regions that are not closely united.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 158.

159. The reduction in compactness of CDs 4 and 5 in the 2025 map also fails to arise from any consideration of natural boundaries. See Pearson II, 367 S.W.3d at 52.

ANSWER: Paragraph 159 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

160. The 2022 Map respected natural boundaries by uniting rural counties along the Missouri River and Osage River watersheds within CD 4, tying together communities with shared river basins and agricultural economies.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 160.

161. The 2025 Map disregards these natural boundaries by fracturing the Missouri and Osage River region, dividing counties that share the same watershed between CDs 4 and 5.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 161.

162. The new boundary between CDs 4 and 5 cuts directly across the Osage River basin, resulting in sprawling districts that no longer correspond to natural geographic features.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 162.

163. The reduction in compactness of CDs 4 and 5 was not necessary to reduce county, municipal, and precinct splits. See Pearson II, 367 S.W.3d at 52. Though the 2025 Map splits fewer counties, for instance, the same or lower number of splits could have been achieved without reducing the compactness of CDs 4 and 5.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 163.

164. The 2025 Map splits more precincts than the 2022 Map.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 164.

165. The additional precinct splits are concentrated in Kansas City and Jackson County, thus requiring the KCEB and JCEB to reconfigure their precincts in order to implement the 2025 Map.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 165.

166. The reduction in compactness of CDs 4 and 5 does not result from consideration of historical district boundary lines. See Pearson II, 367 S.W.3d at 52.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 166.

167. For more than sixty years, Missouri's congressional maps have followed a recognizable pattern in this region: CD 5 has remained centered on the Kansas City metropolitan area, anchored in Jackson and Clay Counties, while CD 4 has encompassed the surrounding rural counties of west-central Missouri. The 2025 Map departs dramatically from this longstanding configuration by stretching CD 5 far into the state's rural counties and severing the Kansas City metropolitan area from its historical representation.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 167.

168. Respect for historical lines is typically measured using a metric known as core retention, which measures the percentage of a district's prior population that remains in the district after redistricting. High core retention indicates continuity with historical districts, while low core retention reflects departures from past maps.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 168.

169. The 2025 Map has low core retention compared to the state's 2012 congressional districts, demonstrating a break in continuity from maps of past decades. CD 4 and CD 5, in particular, have the lowest levels of core retention with their 2012 counterparts than any other district in the 2025 Map.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 169.

170. CD 4 and CD 5 in the 2025 Map also achieve a far lower level of fidelity to 2012 districts than CD 4 and CD 5 in the 2022 Map.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 170.

171. The 2022 Map represented high continuity with the state's 2012 districts.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 171.

172. The 2025 Map's unusually low core retention rates underscore the extent to which it disregards the historical boundaries and configurations the State has consistently followed for decades.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 172.

173. The 2025 Map's restructuring of CDs 4 and 5 also disregards the principle that district boundaries should tend to preserve continuity between constituents and their representatives. See Pearson II, 367 S.W.3d at 50 n.12.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 173.

174. By reducing CD 5's core retention and scattering the majority of its residents into two other districts, the 2025 Map severs longstanding ties between diverse Kansas City area residents and their longstanding representative, Rep. Cleaver. It also forces many Kansas City area residents to establish new relationships with representatives in districts in which they have never previously been included.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 174.

175. The 2025 Map's reconfiguration of CDs 4 and 5 and the resulting substantial reduction of compactness cannot be explained by adherence to any "recognized factors." Pearson II, 367 S.W.3d at 50 n.12.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 175.

176. Its effect and intent are instead to transform what has long been a seat anchored in the Democratic-leaning Kansas City metropolitan area into a district dominated by rural, Republican-leaning counties, an outcome accomplished by splitting Kansas City's Black and white residents along stark racial lines. Indeed, composite election results from recent statewide and federal contests confirm that, under the 2025 Map, a Republican candidate in CD 5 would likely win a majority of the two-party vote. This partisan tilt directly endangers Rep. Cleaver's reelection prospects and likely assures the Republican Party will comfortably hold seven of the eight seats in the state's congressional delegation.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 176.

CAUSES OF ACTION

COUNT I

Violation of the Timing Requirement for Congressional Redistricting Under Article III, Section 45 of the Missouri Constitution

177. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate by reference the allegations of the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

ANSWER: In response to Paragraph 177, Intervenor adopts and incorporates its answers to preceding paragraphs as fully stated herein.

178. The Missouri Constitution provides for a government of delegated powers, such that the undelegated powers of the sovereign reside with the people. See, e.g., State ex rel. Gordon v. Becker, 49 S.W.2d 146, 147 (Mo. banc 1932) (holding that, except for the powers delegated under the state constitution, “[a]ll the sovereign power . . . rests with the people of the state”).

ANSWER: Paragraph 178 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

179. Article III, § 45 authorizes congressional redistricting only when a new decennial census results in a new apportionment of the number of congressional representatives between the 50 states and triggers the General Assembly's obligation to redraw congressional districts. Pearson I, 359 S.W.3d at 37-38. Under general rules of construction, “[w]hen the Constitution defines the circumstances under which” an authority “may be exercised,” it is “an implied prohibition” against its exercise in other circumstances. See State ex

inf. Shartel v. Brunk, 34 S.W.2d 94, 95-96 (Mo. banc 1930) (holding that constitutional provision conferring “the Legislature with sole power to remove [an officer] by impeachment proceedings, is an implied prohibition against legislation providing for his removal for any other causes or in any other manner”).

ANSWER: Mo. Const. art. III, § 45 and Pearson II speak for themselves. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

180. Once Missouri’s congressional districts have been enacted following the decennial census and reapportionment, those districts “take effect for the [next] election and remain in place for the next decade or until a Census shows that the districts should change.” Pearson I, 359 S.W.3d at 37-38.

ANSWER: Paragraph 180 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

181. No provision of the Missouri Constitution authorizes congressional redistricting at any other point during the decade.

ANSWER: Paragraph 181 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

182. Article III, § 10 of the Missouri Constitution permits mid-decade redistricting only for state house and state senate districts, but it omits congressional districts from that list. The existence of § 10 confirms that the legislature must have express authority in order to redistrict, and the omission of congressional districts from the list of districts amenable to mid-decade redistricting is conclusive proof of the legislature’s lack of authority.

ANSWER: Paragraph 182 is a conclusion of law, not an averment

of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

183. Because the Missouri Constitution specifies when redistricting is allowed to occur, any other attempt to redraw districts exceeds the legislature's constitutional authority.

ANSWER: Paragraph 183 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

184. Missouri enacted a congressional map for this decade in 2022, after the 2020 Census indicating Missouri's allotted eight congressional seats was certified to the Governor.

ANSWER: Intervenor admits that the General Assembly enacted a redistricting plan in 2022 with eight congressional seats and denies all other allegations of Paragraph 184.

185. Under Article III, § 45, the state's 2022 congressional map must remain in place for the next decade or until a new decennial census shows that the districts should change.

ANSWER: Paragraph 185 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

186. The next decennial census and reapportionment will not occur until 2030, in accordance with federal law. 13 U.S.C. § 141(a)-(c), (e)(2).

ANSWER: Paragraph 186 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

187. The General Assembly thus enacted the 2025 congressional map in H.B. 1 beyond the specific circumstances authorized under Article III, § 45 of the Missouri Constitution.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 187.

188. Accordingly, the 2025 congressional map exceeds the authority conferred on the legislature by the Missouri Constitution and is unconstitutional.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 187.

COUNT II

Violation of the Compactness Requirement

Under Article III, Section 45 of the Missouri Constitution

189. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate by reference the allegations of the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

ANSWER: In response to Paragraph 189, Intervenor adopts and incorporates its answers to preceding paragraphs as fully stated herein.

190. Congressional districts violate Article III, § 45's requirement to be as "compact . . . as may be" if "the boundaries of the [challenged districts] depart from principles of compactness and . . . any deviations were not minimal or practical deviations resulting from applying the recognized factors" encompassed in the constitutional text. Pearson II, 367 S.W.3d at 53.

ANSWER: Paragraph 190 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

191. Compactness means "closely united territory" and does not refer solely to physical shape or size, though those considerations are "relevant." Id. at 54-55.

ANSWER: Paragraph 191 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

192. The recognized factors include: “(1) the interrelationship in standards for population equality and compactness requirements; (2) the contiguity requirement; (3) federal laws, including the Voting Rights Act; and (4) the recognized factors of population density, natural boundary lines, boundaries of political subdivisions, and historical boundary lines of prior redistricting maps.” Id. at 53.

ANSWER: Paragraph 192 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

193. The 2025 Map’s new CDs 4 and 5 clearly and undoubtedly contravene Article III, § 45’s compactness requirement.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 193.

194. As an initial matter, the new 2025 CDs 4 and 5 depart from principles of compactness because they no longer contain closely united territory. The new configuration of CDs 4 and 5 fractures the closely united areas contained in the 2022 Map’s CDs 4 and 5 by splitting the metropolitan Kansas City area—which was united in CD 5—between three separate districts, and by joining those metropolitan area fragments with far-flung rural areas that share few common interests.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 194.

195. The size and shape of the new CDs 4 and 5 also depart sharply from compactness principles. CD 5 has been transformed from a small, regularly shaped district into a long, meandering shape that extends hundreds of miles from Kansas City. CD 4, though still large, now features a bizarre giraffe-neck appendage bursting north into Kansas City to capture the predominantly white neighborhoods west of the Troost Divide.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 195.

196. The new configuration of CDs 4 and 5 also performs worse on all standard quantitative measures of compactness as compared to the 2022 Map.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 196.

197. Furthermore, these deviations from compactness are neither minimal nor practical, nor do they result from applying any of the recognized factors.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 197.

198. First, reducing the compactness of CDs 4 and 5 was not necessary to comply with Article III, § 45's equal population or contiguity requirement. Nor was it necessary to make other congressional districts in the state more compact.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 198.

199. Second, reducing the compactness of CDs 4 and 5 was not necessary to comply with any federal law, including the Voting Rights Act and Fourteenth Amendment.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 199.

200. Third, reducing the compactness of CDs 4 and 5 does not result from consideration of any of the permissive factors. The reduction in compactness of CDs 4 and 5 does not result from any consideration of population density or natural boundary lines. Nor was it necessary to reduce county, municipal, precinct, or other political subdivision splits. And altering the boundaries of CDs 4 and 5 to reduce their compactness during an extraordinary and unlawful mid-decade redistricting effort long after the decade's districts have already been drawn cannot result from adherence to previous district boundaries.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 200.

201. Politics and partisan advantage are not permissible justifications for deviating from the compactness requirement. See Preisler, 284 S.W.2d at 435.

ANSWER: Paragraph 201 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

202. Reducing the compactness of CDs 4 and 5 thus cannot be explained by and is not necessary to advance any permissible interest, including preservation of incumbents in their existing districts.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 202.

203. Accordingly, the 2025 Map's configuration of CDs 4 and 5 violates the compactness mandate of Article III, § 45.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 203.

COUNT III

Violation of the Equal Population Requirement Under Article III, Section 45 of the Missouri Constitution

204. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate by reference the allegations of the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

ANSWER: In response to Paragraph 204, Intervenor adopts and incorporates its answers to preceding paragraphs as fully stated herein.

205. Article III, § 45 requires that congressional districts be “as nearly equal in population as may be.” The Missouri Supreme Court has affirmed that “numerical equality [is] mandatory.”, 359 S.W.3d at 39.

ANSWER: Mo. Const. art. III, § 45 and Pearson II speak for themselves. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

206. H.B. 1's double assignment of VTD 811 renders CDs 4 and 5 malapportioned.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 206.

207. Under the version of the map enacted with VTD 811 assigned to CD 4, that district has 843 more people than the ideal population and CD 5 has 843 fewer people than ideal.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 207.

208. Under the version of the map enacted with VTD 811 assigned to CD 5, that district has CD 5 has 32 people too many and CD 4 has 32 people fewer than ideal.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 208.

209. These deviations from precise mathematical equality are not justified by any permissible interest in congressional redistricting.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 209.

210. The 2025 Map thus violates the equal population requirement of Article III, § 45.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 210.

COUNT IV

Violation of the Contiguity Requirement Under Article III, Section 45 of the Missouri Constitution

211. Plaintiffs reallege and incorporate by reference the allegations of the preceding paragraphs.

ANSWER: In response to Paragraph 211, Intervenor adopts and incorporates its answers to preceding paragraphs as fully stated herein.

212. Article III, § 45 requires that congressional districts be composed of contiguous territory.

ANSWER: Mo. Const. art. III, § 45 speaks for itself. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

213. The contiguity requirement is mandatory, and the state is not permitted “the exercise of any discretion” to depart from it. See Barrett, 146 S.W. at 53 (discussing contiguity requirement in state legislative redistricting).

ANSWER: Paragraph 213 is a conclusion of law, not an averment of fact, to which no answer is required. To the extent a response is required, Intervenor denies the same.

214. By assigning Kansas City VTD 811 to both CDs 4 and 5, H.B. 1 creates a noncontiguity in CD 5 because territory assigned to CD 4 separates distinct areas of territory assigned to CD 5.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 214.

215. This noncontiguity violates Article III, § 45 of the Constitution.

ANSWER: Intervenor denies the allegations of Paragraph 215.

DEFENSES AND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES

A. The Petition fails to state a claim as a matter of law.

B. The Plaintiffs have shown no individual harm and thus have no interest, aside from a purely conjectural interest, in the claims and therefore have no standing to bring the action.

C. The Petition raises political questions and this Court has no jurisdiction to address political questions.

D. The Petition raises nonjusticiable questions that this Court has no jurisdiction to address.

E. To the extent federal law claims are asserted, this Court is without jurisdiction to rule upon federal law claims regarding redistricting of congressional districts.

WHEREFORE, having fully answered, Intervenor Missouri Republican State Committee moves the Court for dismissal of the Petition, that Plaintiffs take nothing thereby, and that Intervenor be awarded the costs and expenses incurred in the action, including attorney fees, and for such other and further relief as is just and proper.
