

A map of Ohio showing its 88 counties, each labeled with its name. The state is divided into 15 numbered regions, each with a unique color and a grid pattern. The regions are: 1 (dark blue, southwest), 2 (yellow, south), 3 (pink, central), 4 (light blue, west-central), 5 (orange, north-central), 6 (purple, east), 7 (dark blue, northeast), 8 (green, west), 9 (grey, northwest), 10 (cyan, west-central), 11 (light blue, north), 12 (light green, east-central), 13 (green, northeast), 14 (pink, far northeast), and 15 (light purple, south-central). The Great Lakes are visible to the north and west of the state.