

Response Expert Report of Thomas M. Bryan

Expert in Demography for the Wisconsin Legislature

Johnson v. Wisconsin Elections Commission

December 30, 2021

RESPONSE EXPERT REPORT OF THOMAS M. BRYAN

I, Thomas Mark Bryan, affirm the conclusions I express in this report are provided to a reasonable degree of professional certainty.

I. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

1. Subsequent to my original report in this case, I have received five additional remedial submissions, which I refer here to as:
 - Governor’s New Plan;
 - BLOC Plan;
 - Bewley Plan;
 - Citizen Mathematicians (or “Math”) Plan; and
 - Hunter Plan
2. In the Assembly, the Legislature’s plan features the second-best deviation percentage, the second-best overall core retention, the second-best geographic splits and the second-fewest incumbent pairings. The highest-scoring plans in these categories were distributed among the other proposals, and no other proposal performed consistently as well as the Legislature’s plan.
3. In the Senate, the Legislature’s plan features the second-best deviation percentage, the highest overall core retention, the second-best disenfranchisement, the second-best geographic splits and the best incumbent pairings (that is, there aren’t any). The highest-scoring plans in these categories were distributed among the other proposals, and no other proposal performed consistently as well as the Legislature’s plan.

II. ASSIGNMENT

4. The Wisconsin Legislature has asked me to independently review and assess the features and characteristics of the newly proposed plans. I focus this report on the Governor’s, BLOC’s and Bewley’s remedial proposals. My focus on these is driven by their relatively higher levels of core retention (with 85.6%, 84.1% and 83.8% respectively in their proposed assembly plans) than the Citizen Mathematicians and Hunter proposals, indicating a stronger adherence to the Wisconsin Supreme Court’s direction to develop a “least changes” plan.
5. In Section III, I provide an overall comparison of the plans and then take a closer look at the Governor’s, Bewley’s and BLOC’s plans by evaluating geographic splits, core retention, and continuity of representation (incumbency).
6. In Section IV, I provide my Appendices.

7. In forming my opinions, I have considered all materials cited in this report and the appendices, including the various proposals submitted by the other parties and supported by their experts.
8. I reserve the right to further supplement my report and opinions.

III. REDISTRICTING PERFORMANCE

A. Overall Plan Comparison

9. Comparisons of the six proposals are in Tables III.1 (Assembly) and III.2 (Senate) below. The tables largely rely on the other parties' self-reported plan characteristics. For incumbent pairings (which many parties did not report), I rely on incumbent pairings reports included in Appendix 3.

B. Application of Redistricting Criteria to Reapportion Legislative Districts in a “Least Changes” Manner

10. I have taken a closer look at the Governor, BLOC, and Bewley plans because they have overall core retention scores that are similar to the Legislature’s plan. In my initial report, I discussed the Legislature’s adherence to a “least changes” strategy from existing Act 43. To determine whether the other plans also adhere to a “least changes” strategy, I have performed a geographic splits analysis, a core retention analysis (CRA) and a continuity of representation (incumbency) analysis.

1. Geographic Splits Analysis

11. As I explained in my initial report, traditional redistricting principles and Wisconsin-specific redistricting principles strongly agree that splitting administrative geography should be minimized in a successful redistricting plan. An increase in the number of splits is also indicative of changes made to existing districts.
12. A high-level comparison of the other plans’ county and ward splits are below: Within the Governor’s Assembly plan – there are 53 county splits and 14 ward splits. Within the Governor’s Senate plan – there are 45 county splits and 6 ward splits. Within the BLOC Assembly plan – there are 53 county splits and 3 ward splits. Within the BLOC Senate plan, there are 42 county splits and 2 ward splits. Within the Bewley Assembly plan, there are 55 county splits and within the Bewley Senate plan there are 48 county splits. I did not measure ward splits in the Bewley plan, because the Bewley plan did not redistrict based on 2020 ward lines.
13. Shown in Table III.1 and III.2, the Legislature’s plan also has the fewest municipal splits. Municipal splits for the other parties’ Assembly plans are listed in Appendix 2.

2. Core Retention Analysis

14. As I explained in my initial report, a proposed plan with high core retention scores is indicative of a plan that makes minimum changes to Wisconsin’s existing districts. Under the methodology I employ to measure core retention, core retention is evaluated by assessing the number of persons in an existing district who remain in that district. (Others, including Senator Bewley’s expert, by comparison, sometimes evaluate core retention by assessing how few new people are in a new district, Amos Exhibit 3.) In my initial report (paragraph 70) I also documented my observation that the PMC plan did not maintain consistent numbering of their new districts with existing districts – making an accurate and equitable comparison with the enacted Legislature’s plan impossible. As with the discontinuity of numbering in the PMC plan, I noted discontinuities in the numbering of the new proposed plans as well. For example, in Bewley’s District 97 (see Appendix 1L) only 220 of the original 56,950 residents are retained in the new District 97 – while the largest number (24,647) are “retained” in new District 84. Giving Bewley’s plan every benefit of the doubt – I assign District 97 43.6% retention instead of 0%. Therefore, to ensure consistency in our analysis, and to give every other plan the greatest benefit, I utilize this “greatest share” approach for all of the plans.¹

15. Other parties’ core retention analyses consider only the total populations of districts in comparisons across plans. Here, I have taken a closer look at the Governor, BLOC, and Bewley core retention by presenting district-by-district comparisons in the Milwaukee area districts and by also analyzing the core retention of racial groups.
16. I include all of my Core Retention Analysis charts and tables in Appendix 1.
17. I begin with an analysis of the Governor’s new plan. Table III.3 shows the Governor’s core retention of all Wisconsinites across all districts, as well as core retention of Black and Hispanic Wisconsinites statewide:

Table III.3 Governor’s Proposed Assembly Districts
Total, Black and Hispanic Core Retention

	Total	Black Alone	Hispanic
	Population	Population	Population

18. Table III.4 shows the Governor’s core retention in Milwaukee-area districts, which include AD 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 82, 83, and 84:

Grand Total	1,212,741	259,611	162,447

¹ There is only one small fractional impact to one District 14 in the enacted Legislative plan where this has any impact at all.

19. Table III.5 shows the Governor's core retention in Milwaukee's predominantly Black Senate Districts 4 and 6:

Table III.5 Governor's Proposed Milwaukee-Area Black SD4 and SD6 Core Retention

Number Displaced	59,008	38,085	2,862
Grand Total	325,277	206,738	20,050

20. Figure III.1 shows one reason why the new Governor's core retention in Milwaukee is so poor. The Governor redraws the northern districts in Milwaukee to reach into Ozaukee and Waukesha counties, even though the existing districts stop at the county line.

21. Here I assess core retention of BLOC's plan. In Table III.6, I show the BLOC plan would have retained 84.3% of Wisconsinites in their existing districts statewide, but only 76.1% of Black Wisconsinites.

Table III.6 BLOC's Proposed Assembly Districts
Total, Black and Hispanic Core Retention

Number Displaced	89,226	45,275	5,392
Grand Total	325,277	206,738	20,050

24. Figure III.2 shows one reason why the BLOC plan's core retention in the Milwaukee area is so poor. As with the Governor's plan, the BLOC plan redraws the northern Milwaukee districts to reach into Ozaukee and Waukesha counties, even though the existing districts stopped at the county line.

25. Finally, I evaluate the Bewley plan's core retention. Senator Bewley's plan does not have a block assignment file that allows me to do the same core retention analysis as I was able to do for the Governor and BLOC plans. I have therefore used Senator Bewley's Expert Exhibit 3 (reporting individuals displaced by district) to determine core retention by district, but I cannot determine core retention of Black or Hispanic individuals.
26. In Table III.9, I show the Bewley plan would have retained 84.3% of Wisconsinites in their existing districts:

29. Figure III.3 illustrates one of the major changes Bewley plan makes in Milwaukee. Senator Bewley extends Milwaukee Assembly Districts 11 and 12 beyond the Milwaukee County line to reach into Waukesha county, even though these districts previously ended at the county line. (Noted below, one consequence of this redraw is that the Bewley plan pairs the two Milwaukee incumbents from these predominantly Black Assembly Districts.) Figure III.4 shows Bewley's districts relative to the existing Act 43 boundaries.

3. Incumbency Analysis

30. My last analysis was to examine the degree to which the Governor, BLOC, and Bewley proposed Bewley plans paired incumbents. The Governor's Plan has 3 incumbent pairings. The plan has 1 pair of incumbents in Senate District 8 and 2 pairs of incumbents in Assembly Districts 24 and 83. Each pair are Republicans.

31. Figure III.5 shows how the Governor's plan would redraw SD5 and SD8 to pair Senators Darling and Kooyenga.

32. The BLOC Plan has 7 incumbent pairings. There are two paired incumbents in Senate Districts 8 and 20. The incumbents are all Republicans and include Senate Majority Leader Devin LeMahieu. There are 5 pairs of incumbents in Assembly Districts 13, 31, 39, 60, and 82. Three of the 5 districts are represented by Republicans. One district has a pair of incumbent Democrats and the other district is split with one Republican and one Democrat.

33. Figure III.6 shows how BLOC's plan would redraw SD 8 and SD 5 to pair Senators Darling and Kooyenga.

34. The Bewley Plan has 11 incumbent pairings. There are 3 paired incumbents in Senate Districts 14, 22 and 30. Two of the 3 districts have one Republican and one Democrat. The remaining district has 2 Republicans. There are 8 pairs of incumbents in Assembly Districts 11, 41, 69, 76, 83, 84, 93 and 99. Six of the eight districts are represented by Republicans. The other two districts pair Democratic incumbents, including pairing incumbents in Milwaukee's predominantly Black Districts 11 and 12 (shown in Figure III.3 and Figure III.4 above).

CONCLUSION

35. For the reasons stated in this report and illustrated in the appendices, as well as my initial report, I conclude that the Legislature's SB 621 Assembly and Senate plans achieve population equality while making minimum changes, measured by a variety of metrics, to reapportion Wisconsin's legislative districts as compared to other parties' proposals.
